Hello,

I oppose the creation of a digital identity.

It will be fraught with cyber security risks, sale of data, identity theft and fraud.

I particularly oppose forcing people to use a digital identity, like people have been forced to do certain other things in recent years, despite claims to the contrary.

I oppose government departments, agencies, corporations, organisations and individuals:

- Making it difficult or costly for people to access and use services if they choose not to have a digital ID
- discriminating against people who choose not to have a digital ID.

Presently, people who choose to use cash are being discriminated against and are being prevented from doing so by some companies and organisations.

This must not happen with a digital ID.

Please stop the further centralisation of our data. Ditch the digital ID.

Yours sincerely,
